

Faith Pulpit

Faith Baptist Theological Seminary

Robert L. Domokos, D.Min., President
George G. Houghton, Th.D., Vice President
Elvin K. Mattison, Ph.D., Dean

The Doctrine of the Church and Its Identifying Marks

by George G. Houghton, Th.D.

June 1993

There is much confusion these days over what the Bible teaches about the church. Here at Faith Baptist Bible College and Theological Seminary we are often asked what we believe in this area, and we are glad for the opportunity to set forth our convictions. There is much more that could be said about the church but these comments reflect our basic understanding of what the Scriptures teach.

"... it is the will of God for believers ... to publicly express their faith in Christ ..."

Significance

We believe that the doctrine of the church is just as significant as any of the other grand teachings of Scripture. Furthermore, we believe that the doctrine of the church is vital and important for a proper understanding and observance of the plan of God for believers in this age.

Nature—Distinct from Israel

We believe that the church began on the day of Pentecost with the unique indwelling and baptizing ministries of the Spirit of God, and that all genuine believers during this age (from Pentecost until the Rapture) comprise this body, with Christ as its Head. The church is distinct from national Israel, and the promises, prophecies and destiny of each group should be kept separate. The church will be completed when our Lord returns in the air to take us to be with Himself in the Rapture before the tribulation period begins on earth.

Nature of its Commission

We believe that the commission entrusted to the church is not one primarily of a social, political, or economic nature but rather is one of evangelization and the establishing of local churches where biblically-baptized believers associate "by covenant in the faith and fellowship of the Gospel."

Water Baptism

We believe that it is the will of God for believers in this age to publicly express their faith in Christ, their identification with His death and resurrection, and their desire to walk in holiness by undergoing water baptism—the single immersion of a believer in the name of the triune God. While baptism is a symbol of an inward reality, its outward observance has been commanded by our Lord. Baptism is the identifying badge of a Christian, and is therefore a prerequisite to local church membership and its privileges (including regular participation in its programs, and its observance of the Lord's supper).

The Lord's Supper

We believe that the Lord's supper is a memorial picture of our Lord's death on our behalf, a testimony of our present identification with Him and His people, and a reminder that while He is absent from us presently, the day awaits when we shall be together forever with Him at His return. Participants should be genuine believers who have been scripturally baptized and are walking in obedience and fellowship with Him.

The Church's Importance and Definition

We believe that the local church has been established by God as the institution through which He normally carries out His work in this age. Therefore it has a sacred pre-eminence over other religious organizations and is described in scripture as "the pillar and ground of the truth" (1 Tim. 3:15). Its members are baptized believers who are united in doctrinal conviction, godly walk, and intend to carry out the church covenant and the purposes for which the local church exists. Those purposes include evangelism at home and around the world, the observance of the ordinances, the building up of the saints, maturing them and equipping them for ministry through fellowship, encouragement, the systematic preaching and teaching of God's Word, and opportunity for ministry.

"... the local church ... [is] the institution through which [God] normally carries out His work in this age."

The Church's Government

We believe that our Lord has entrusted to each church the right to govern itself through congregational action, and that no one person or organization—whether from within or without the church—should assume or exercise such authority. Each congregation, therefore, is the sole decision-making body, and its will is final. It is the privilege of God's people to seek the mind of Christ and then to act accordingly.

The Church's Officers

Our Lord has given to His churches two specific officers, and these are the pastor (elder, bishop) and deacons. The pastor is a man called by God who functions as the shepherd of the flock by providing a mature and godly example for them to follow, by faithfully preaching and teaching the Word of God, and by using his overseeing office to alert his people to danger and to give them leadership and direction. Deacons are men who function as helpers to the pastor. Their responsibility is to serve and minister within the local church under the direction of the pastoral office. We reject the concept of a plurality of ruling elders.

Churches which follow these biblical guidelines should not be ashamed of their distinctive Baptist qualities nor should their people hesitate to use the designation "Baptist" in identifying themselves, their convictions, or their local church.

Dr. George Houghton is Academic Vice President of FBBC&TS and also teaches Bible and Theology subjects. He is a graduate of Bethel College, Central Baptist Theological Seminary of Minneapolis, and holds a Masters and a Doctor of Theology from Dallas Theological Seminary.

About FBTS

Seminary . . . learning to think, developing a discerning spirit, having a sensitivity to others and their needs, maintaining a servant's attitude, sharpening ministry and other leadership skills, mastering the content of Scripture, and developing firm doctrinal convictions.

The goal of Faith Baptist Theological Seminary is to train leaders for Christian service as capable teachers and preachers. FBTS seeks to fire the hearts of students along with challenging their minds.

To learn more about our seminary call 1-800-352-0147.

Nonprofit
U.S. POSTAGE
PAID
PERMIT NO. 61
ANKENY, IA

Faith Baptist Bible College and Theological Seminary
1900 NW Fourth Street
Ankeny, IA 50021

